

Version overview of the MVPs from Team Harmony

At Team Harmony, we embarked on creating an application that enables families to plan their holidays and vacations more effectively—and, above all, peacefully. Our mission is to ensure every family member has a voice in the planning process while simplifying the decision-making for parents seeking the perfect trip with their children.

To achieve this, we developed and tested multiple prototypes with real families. We implemented a survey-based tool that invites each family member to specify their preferred travel dates, destinations, and the type of experience they desire—whether a camping adventure or a luxury retreat. Users can also indicate any special requirements, such as wheelchair-accessible accommodations. Once the survey is complete, our proprietary AI algorithm aggregates all preferences and conducts an online search to identify the ideal vacation options. Families can then review the recommendations and book their chosen trip seamlessly through our affiliate links.

The first look and feel of the app's UI/UX design, which presents a clean, intuitive interface for families. Users can easily fill out the survey, and we gathered valuable feedback on what matters most to each household and which questions to include. This early prototype emphasizes streamlined navigation and clear visual cues to guide users seamlessly through each step. Insights from our sessions have already prompted refinements to the survey flow, ensuring that every family member's preferences are captured accurately and efficiently.

Discover the eternal city with its ancient ruins,

We've completely overhauled the app's visual design to give it a sleek, contemporary aesthetic, featuring a clean layout, updated color palette, and modern iconography. At the same time, we streamlined the user flow for children by reducing text density, introducing playful illustrations, and adding guided prompts that make completing the survey both intuitive and engaging. Behind the scenes, our AI-driven engine now processes each family member's inputs in real time, delivering personalized vacation suggestions—such as beach resorts, camping retreats, or cultural city tours—based on age, interests, and special requirements. Early user tests have shown that these improvements significantly boost completion rates and increase satisfaction with the recommendations provided.

Version MVP

We've finalized the app's design and introduced a suite of gamification features—such as interactive badges, progress bars — specifically designed to engage children and make the planning process fun. At the same time, we've overhauled our vacation-recommendation algorithm to analyze each family member's inputs more intelligently, delivering highly personalized trip suggestions and streamlining the entire booking workflow.

The image displays three screenshots of the Harmony app MVP interface.

This screen is titled "Create Your Family Group" with a subtitle "Start by adding your family members to plan your perfect vacation together". It includes the following fields and options:

- Family Name: A text input field with the example "e.g. The Smiths".
- Starting Location: A section titled "Your Home City" with a text input field showing "e.g., Munich, New York" and a grid of city buttons: New York, Los Angeles, Munich, London, Paris, and Tokyo.
- Add Family Members: A section with a "Name" input field (example: "e.g. John"), a "Member Type" selector with radio buttons for "Parent" (selected), "Child", and "Child", and an "Add Member +" button.
- Continue to Preferences Survey: A purple button at the bottom.

This screen shows a progress bar at the top with a "100% Complete" indicator. Below the bar is a grid of 12 icons representing different activities or locations, such as "Golfing", "Hiking", "Fishing", "Swimming", "Reading", "Golfing", "Hiking", "Fishing", "Swimming", "Reading", "Golfing", and "Hiking". At the bottom, there is a "Continue to Preferences Survey" button.

Bottom Screenshot: Travel Recommendations

This screen displays three travel recommendations under the heading "All Types Beach City Mountain". Each recommendation card includes a title, location, description, duration, best months, features, and a "Learn More & Book" button.
